

ROBBERS GET $10,000

Armed Men Stop the Transcontinental Express on the Canadian Pacific and Over-awe the Whole Train Crew.

CURRENCY, VALUABLE MAIL AND GOLD DUST SECURED.

Highwaymen Threaten to Use Dynamite, and the Express Messenger Is Forced to Open Safe—Escape with Booty.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 12.—Armed robbers held up the Transcontinental Express on the Canadian Pacific Railway at Mission Junction, B. C., and secured booty amounting to about $10,000. They escaped to the timber, and have crossed the Fraser River into American territory.

Engineer Scott had just pulled his train out from Mission Junction and was getting up steam to make up time lost, when a pistol was pointed at the middle of his back, and he was ordered to stop the train. Looking back, he saw his train covered by pistols in the hands of two other men, who had evidently climbed in over the tender from the baggage car.

As soon as the train was stopped, the engineer was taken back by two of the men and was compelled to uncouple the baggage and express cars, which were next to the engine. In the meantime the conductor and train crew were being held by a fourth man, who ordered them to go back into the train and keep quiet.

As soon as the express car was free the cars were pulled ahead about ten miles to a point past Silverdale, where the express messenger, Herbert Mitchell, was ordered to open the doors of his car. He refused to do so and the men produced several sticks of dynamite. Mitchell saw that it was no use, so he put up a fight and surrendered. He was then compelled to open the safe, from which the men took between $4,000 and $5,000 in gold dust and about $1,000 in currency.

Mail Car Ripped.

They next visited the mail car, where mail clerks Thorburn and Lough were forced to give up the registered packages, which it is estimated was worth about $4,000. The train was then pulled on about eight miles further to a point near the town of Warlock, where the men took to the woods at the south side of the track.

John Warren, conductor of the express, sent news of the hold-up to Vancouver, where Chief McLeod of the Canadian Pacific Railway police and Chief of Police Campbell organized a posse and started for Mission Junction.

It was found that the four men had jumped the train at the junction and on leaving had started directly for the Fraser River, which is only about ten miles distant from this point. A canoe was in hiding and in it they had loaded a few miles to a point on the American shore. Again they vanished in the woods and the trail was lost.

The hold-up is the first that has ever taken place or been attempted on the Canadian Pacific, and the point chosen by the robbers was the best suited for such an attempt on the system. At this point the line runs through heavily timbered hills, and with the boundary between the two countries almost impossible to see.

The American authorities have been notified to be on the lookout, and strong parties have started on the hunt.

WILLYAM, Oham, Wash., Sept. 12.—Detectives have trailed three men, who are believed to be the robbers, from the Canadian Pacific train near Mission Junction, B. C., to the town of London, where they arrived early in the morning, their horses plainly showing the hard travel.

MME. MELBA'S AUTO RUNS OVER AND KILLS OLD MAN

The old man got in the way of the automobile while endeavoring to escape being run over by a cab. Mme. Melba was greatly distressed, and returned to the hotel, where she is now confined to her apartments.

BROOKLYN WOMAN STRANGELY SHOT

Maid Finds Mrs. McLaughlin Unconscious and Bleeding from Wound Inflicted by Her Own Pistol.

VICTIM DECLARES IT WAS ONLY AN ACCIDENT.

Used Same Revolver to Defend Herself Against Murderously Inclined Husband Last Spring—Will Recover from Hurt.

Mrs. Minnie McLaughlin, of No. 188 Lafayette avenue, Brooklyn, is recovering at her home from a mysterious wound inflicted by the same revolver with which she shot three times at her husband last April.

Mrs. McLaughlin lives alone in the house with her servants. The maid ran out of the house and notified Police man Knight, who investigated and found the woman lying unconscious on the floor of her room and bleeding from a wound in the breast. She was fully dressed.

An ambulance surgeon from the Brooklyn Hospital examined her and found the bullet had merely grazed her, but that the powder had burned her flesh, indicating the pistol had been fired at close range.

The police gathered from Mrs. McLaughlin's statements and her maid's version of the shooting that she had attempted to lift the pistol from the bed, where she kept it under her pillow, and that it had been accidentally discharged.

Mrs. McLaughlin is the wife of Edmund McLaughlin, a son of the founder of the publishing firm of McLaughlin Bros. They separated and in April last Mrs. McLaughlin received a telephone message from her husband saying he would be at her house at 4.30 to shoot her and kill himself.

He arrived at the appointed time, but as he opened the door he was greeted with a volley of pistol shots and immediately turned and fled. His wife has not seen him since and does not know whether or not he was injured.

SURRENDERS TO POLICE.

Man Named by Witnesses Held on Suspended Charge.

PATERSON, N. J., Sept. 12.—Thomas A. Sawyer, for whom the police had been looking for several days in connection with the fatal assault on John Garvey, a mason, who died in the General Hospital on Friday last, walked into police headquarters early today and gave himself up. He said he had heard the police were looking for him and he wanted to know what was the charge against him. He was locked up on a nominal charge of disorderly conduct.

Information connecting Sawyer with the case was given by Patrick Flannery and Patrick Flannery, now detained as witnesses. Both said that Sawyer was in the Ramapo avenue saloon when Garvey got into an argument with some men in the place, and that he was one of the men that followed Garvey into the street, where the fatal blow was dealt.

WOUNDED IN DUEL IN PUBLIC PARK

After Quarrel Men Blaze Away at Each Other in Brooklyn—One Shot in Shoulder and Assaultant Arrested.

Leonard Infranz, a young German baker recently arrived in this country, and Peter Adams, thirty years old, of No. 165 Navy street, had a revolver duel in true Western style in Brooklyn last evening.

Infranz was taking a stroll with Adams, a chance acquaintance. After a visit to the Navy-Yard the two men entered Fort Greene Park. On the way they began to quarrel, and when they had reached Navy street and Park avenue the dispute had reached white heat. An insulting remark by Adams was the last straw.

Infranz backed down a few steps, and pulling his pistol, opened fire on his adversary. The first shot took effect in Adams's arm near the shoulder. Adams also drew a revolver, and the two men blazed away at each other regardless of the many people who were in the park at the time and within dangerous proximity to the duelists.

The men had just emptied their revolvers when Patrolmen Molen and Peterson, of the Adams street station, arrived and arrested them. Adams was sent to the Brooklyn Hospital under arrest, and Infranz, who is said to have been the aggressor, was locked up.

To-day began the harvest festival, when we inaugurated the year's Greatest money-saving sale of groceries

TO-MORROW morning at 8.30 o'clock the doors of the Model Food Store will open for the second day upon the year's greatest money-saving sale of groceries and wines. Planned especially for economical householders who demand the highest quality, strictly pure foods and table beverages.

It's an occasion so sensational in its money-saving power that thousands annually purchase a supply of groceries and wines to last throughout the Winter, when expensive transportation makes prices the highest of the year.

We've delved into every market of the world and selected carloads of the best products—buying in such mammoth quantities that brought prices far below what other stores that sell foods of equal quality have to pay for the small lots they handle.

Six months of diligent preparation—is it any wonder that we offer you the greatest opportunity of the entire year to fortify yourself against the higher prices that will surely come with the Winter season?

Stirring music and a harvest festival scene, breathing the fragrance of the wheat field, orchard and garden, will make your visit pleasant beyond your conception. Shocks of corn, sheaves of wheat, Autumn leaves will make it a panorama true to Mother Nature.

But the appended price list is far more important. In every item there's a bargain ring that will appeal to every family in New York and vicinity who demand pure foods at lowest prices. This list covers every requirement of the table. Call Chelsea—2,100.
